

The FCC should stay out of the fight over copy protection. It is simply the movie studio's attempt to make an end run around fair use.